The rewilding challenge in our National Parks

Nick Kempe

One might expect our National Parks to have been at the forefront of the rewilding movement. That has not happened to date, with authorities allowing the ongoing attrition of wild land while the most significant rewilding initiatives have been driven by the private agendas of some landowners. Join Nick as he takes a critical look at the issues, opportunities and challenges associated with rewilding, with illustrated examples from both Scotland's National Parks.

Wednesday 12th February 2020

The Sportsman's Club, 11 Queens Road, Aberdeen, AB15 4YL

Starting at 7.30 pm

Entry £4.00; members and concessions £2.00; NON-MEMBERS WELCOME

Nick, former President of the MCoFS, campaigns on access and conservation issues. Focusing on whether our National Parks are delivering their original aspirations, three years ago he set up the blog parkswatchscotland.co.uk. He combines mountaineering with an interest in natural and human history.
